Who are we? Where did we come from? Where are we going? What is the true history of the human race? Revealing the fascinating realms of Earth's cosmology, human origins, ancient history and lost wisdom, the Human Origins Conference carries a mission of sharing knowledge with the purpose of expanding the consciousness of humanity by presenting world-renowned researchers, writers and visionaries revealing such sensitive information.

The Human Origins Conference represents a serious approach to sensitive issues while remaining dedicated to providing hidden and suppressed knowledge on various topics that deeply affect us all, topics rarely addressed by our mainstream media. Be it economic, political or interstellar, this annual conference event targets those profound questions and global mysteries while aiming to actively inform the general public on the issues we are all facing together, as we come to terms with our own past, present and immediate future.

Linda and Richard Smith are the co-founders and directors of the Human Origins Foundation, which has a prime directive that focuses on getting the word out regarding extraterrestrial intervention, alien contact, the Moorish Legacy and the dynamic scope of our interstellar human origins here on Earth. The prime directive's mission includes a special focus on economic, social and geopolitical issues affecting Earth's ecology, spirituality, reincarnation, lost knowledge, ancient wisdom, linguistics and etymology, the human condition and current affairs, to name a few.

Linda and Richard Smith currently reside in Rio Rancho, New Mexico, and have been speaking locally and internationally with author events, interviews, lectures and conferences.
